

HPDSA (High Pressure Dive Shop) Certification Program

HPDS is offering a combination of online scuba education classes to Tribal and First Generation descendants. The first session is for recreational and volunteer help. Additional training is available for students that are interested in diving as an occupation. Tribal Education Funding can be used for the scuba training.

The contact number is (251) 721-9111. Classes are held each weekend at local pools and then as the students' progress they will travel to other areas for diving experience. The instructors will spend as much time with the students as they need to progress to the next level.
